

Jacek Moskalewicz, Ph.D. works as a Head of the Department of Studies on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence at the Institute of Psychiatry and Neurology in Warsaw, Poland. Sociologist, for over 30 years involved in alcohol and drug research as well as in psychiatric studies incl. epidemiology, policy-oriented studies, action research, social history. Member of the World Health Organization experts' advisory panel on drug dependence and alcohol problems. Consultant or technical adviser to international organizations including the WHO, EMCDDA, UNODC. He performed as deputy-chairman of the Science Group of the Alcohol and Health Forum at the European Commission 2009-2015. Recipient of Jellinek Memorial Award (2001) and Chevalier Cross of Polonia Restituta (2004).

